The journey is always about fast learning, resilience and problem-solving.

01

Build from zero.

A ¥100K studio, a PR system, a startup's full financial model — all started with nothing.

03

Decide with data.

An AI tool that cut costs 50%. Analysis that changed a launch plan.

02

Grow at scale.

157% category growth, 181% of campaign target, +35% recognition — inside large organizations.

04

Create.

One of the winning strategy ideas behind McDonald's China's biggest campaign of H2 2024.

Custom light-up merchandise studio | ¥100K revenue from zero

Position: A digital creation studio using 3D printing to turn 2D artwork into premium light-up merchandise — print-on-demand, small-batch, no tooling cost.

Target: Small businesses, creators and cultural institutions needing 1–1,000-unit runs — too small for traditional factories, too demanding for generic print shops.

- Owned marketing, pricing, channel operations, customer support and finance in a 2-person founding team
- Found customers where they already were: reached out under concert and art-school posts, and partnered with offline ticket sellers as a sales channel
- Cut an underperforming product line to focus on the two best sellers; raised prices with no drop in sales

JUN – OCT 2026

Overseas Instagram strategy | Content & ops for a 530K-follower account

Engaged by the Group Brand PR Management Center of China's leading down-apparel group, reporting to the Strategy Director.

- Own the content and operations strategy for the brand's official Instagram — core KPIs: follower health, follower engagement rate, non-follower reach
- In parallel, advising on an internal strategy project (confidential at this stage)

2020 – 2023

PR system built from zero | 10+ crises contained within 24h

- Built the media database and press process from scratch; share of voice +200%, organic site traffic +300%
- Handled 10+ major crises across finance, celebrity endorsement and e-commerce — each contained within 24 hours, closed within a week

Startup financial model | 7.6x the course profit target

Team course project: a fictional UK gaming-services startup. I owned the finance workstream for our 4-person team.

- Built the break-even analysis, 12-month cash budget, income statement and balance sheet from scratch
- Spotted that the model had zero variable cost — which simplified the whole pricing logic
- Kept every number consistent across the business plan and set the team's sales targets

Full-funnel fleece campaign | 181% engagement · 156% reach

Scaling a fleece series against Uniqlo and Patagonia in peak e-commerce season, on a tight budget.

- Built a social-to-sales funnel: RedNote and Douyin creator seeding feeding into livestream conversion
- Differentiated on product technology instead of price

7A down duvet launch | 157% growth on half the budget

Mendale launched the world's first 7A-certified down duvet into a category with 5% household penetration — during an unusually warm winter.

- Led the integrated campaign across marketing, e-commerce, retail and PR
- Educated the category with expert-led content and offline "feather testing" zones instead of broad seasonal ads
- Trained frontline sales teams and matched expert / lifestyle creators for credible seeding

APR – NOV 2023

Brand repositioning with BCG | +35% recognition in year one

BENLAI had no distinct identity in a crowded "basics" apparel market.

- Co-led the repositioning with BCG, across Design, Retail and Supply Chain
- Rebuilt positioning, pricing tiers and category structure; reset each department's KPIs to match

AI POP content system | Production cost down 50% across 30+ stores

In-store POP posters and display visuals were slow and expensive to produce across a 30+ store network; operational data sat in separate systems.

- Worked with the IT team to build an internal AI tool that generates in-store posters and display visuals
- Set up a CRM + BI dashboard tracking 10+ core metrics across all stores
- Got Design, Retail and IT teams actually using both

BANDAI NAMCO ENT. EUROPE — ASSISTANT BRAND MANAGER

AUG 2025 – JAN 2026

Competitive intelligence program | Reddit added to the launch plan

On the European brand team of one of the world's largest game publishers, working across JP / US / EU headquarters.

- Tracked 18+ global PC / console titles monthly — gameplay trends, market performance, community sentiment
- My analysis led the team to add Reddit as a core social channel in a title's pre-launch wishlist phase
- Kept brand identity consistent across three regional HQs and external agencies

FPT SOFTWARE — CONSULTANT, IN-COMPANY PROJECT

APR – JUN 2025

EU market-entry study | France, UK & Germany

Client consulting project for Vietnam's largest IT services company.

- Assessed whether FPT's Route-to-Market solution could enter France, the UK and Germany
- Analyzed the competitive landscape and interviewed stakeholders to define what success would require
- Turned a complex software offering into a practical market-entry recommendation

MCDONALD'S CHINA — FREELANCE CREATIVE CONCEPT

Moonburger, a McDonald's × BMW festival concept | The product was the media

A mooncake and a burger are the same object: round, stamped on top, and made to be shared with the people you sit down with. That overlap was the way in — one product that reads as both, so the campaign lives on the tray instead of in an ad slot.

- Started from what the festival food and the brand's own food already share — shape, stamp, and the act of sharing — and built the product concept on that overlap
- Designed the product as the campaign's own media channel — built to be photographed and shared, with zero media spend

WHAT WE MADE OF IT

OPERATING PRINCIPLES

What stays the same when everything changes.

The same five lessons kept showing up — across industries and roles, client side and agency side, as an employee and as a founder.

- 1 Distribution beats production.
A 70-point product in the right channel, talking to the right audience, performs like a 90-point one. The reverse almost never happens.
- 2 Price is a test you can run.
We raised prices and sales didn't move. The market will tell you what your work is worth — if you ask.
- 3 Strategy only counts when every team ships it.
And teams only ship a strategy that accounts for their own goals. Alignment isn't persuasion after the fact — it's designing a plan where every stakeholder wins by executing it.
- 4 The best channel is where your users already talk about you.
You rarely need to build a community from scratch. Find the one that already exists, and show up early.
- 5 Downside contained is upside earned.
Growth gets the applause; risk control keeps the score. Knowing what can go wrong before it does — and containing it fast when it does — protects more value than most campaigns create.
